ROCKLAND AS MODEL

Community Chautauquas Using This City As Example of How Tent Shows Should Be Financed.

When a group of local business men organized and incorporated a Chautauqua Association two years ago for the purpose of making the annual appearance of the big brown tent a certainty they were building better than they knew. The scheme was discovered by the parent company, The Community Chautauquas, and was considered of such value that a conference of the company's field representatives was called at Rochester, N. Y., and the plan given a thorough discussion. As a result the agents of the company are now traveling all over its extensive circuit and organizing in every town where there is sufficient Chautauqua spirit these associations with perfected working mechanisms devised by the company. In the introduction of the plan into the various communities the history of the pioneer organization in Rockland is told and the city derives a considerable amount of highly desirable publicity thereby.

An organizer from headquarters, Mrs. Marion Deener, was in the city yesterday in the interests of Chautauqua and found a very lively interest apparent. She is engaged in extending the membership of the local organization and in establishing a new system of administration which will remove many of the causes of financial stress encountered in the past. There is at present a substantial balance on the right side of the local association's books, $180, and by the systemizing of the effort this satisfactory state of affairs can easily be maintained and even improved.

The plan is this: Members of the organization believe in Chautauqua, contribute $10 to the fund upon joining and should a deficit arise vote whether to meet by assessment or from this fund. The city or town is laid out into districts and a district captain appointed. These districts compete in the securing of ticket sales. By card catalogue or directory lists the districts are closely combed and sufficient individual sales obtained to offset the necessity of the few buying many tickets as has been often necessary in the past. This results in a far better spirit in the communities with reference to the shows and means that the approach of Chautauqua Week can be looked forward to by supporters rather than dreaded as a financial struggle. About 500 tickets should be sold to make the local season a success and over 375 have already been disposed of. Mrs. Deener has no doubts concerning the remaining 125 and is also having good success in securing additional members to the association.

Senator Hale, Mayor Brown and members of the reviewing party will station themselves on the Elks lawn and review the parade as it passes south. A section of the street and sidewalk will be roped off for the convenience of the party. Following the disbanding of the parade Senator Hale will deliver an address at the Arcade at 2:30, the meeting to be presided over by Mayor Brown. At 3:30 the center of interest will move to the Broadway Athletic Field where a football contest is planned between the crew from the Putnam and a local team. A tug-of-war between a C. A. C. team and a team from the Putnam will take place between halves.

The Elks will hold open house all day and the public and officers and crew of the Putnam are invited to avail themselves of its facilities for rest or recreation. At 6 o'clock a complimentary dinner will be tendered Senator Hale, the officers of the Putnam and the members of the Navy Day committee. At the same hour the American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary will serve dinner in Legion hall to the members of the Putnam's crew. The searchlight illumination of the ship from 8 until 9 o'clock will be well worth seeing and the festivities will wind up with a dance in the Arcade from 8 p. m. until midnight.

Members of the Navy Day committee can be distinguished by very appropriate symbols—small bows of navy blue ribbon.

The office of the Chamber of Commerce has served as a clearing house for all the great mass of detail connected with the Navy Day program and Secretary MacDonald has given unservedly of his time and energy.

While no formal proclamation has been issued locally for Navy Day Mayor Edwin L. Brown urges all citizens to assist in making the occasion a success by displaying flags or other appropriate decorations, especially along the line of march. The municipality is very appreciative of the whole hearted interest shown by the naval visitors and the Mayor desires that the citizens shall respond in kind.

Friday Night's Smoker

There will be something doing every minute at the Navy Day Smoker Friday night. The Arcade will probably be inadequate for the crowd, though the committee is leaving no stone unturned to provide extra seating capacity. Reports from the outlying towns show the same keen interest that Rockland is showing in Navy Day and in the Smoker so it behooves those desirous of being near the scene of action to go early. The first number will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Two orchestras, one of them from Rockland High School, and the other, a smaller one from the ship, will furnish music during every interval between acts. The committee has mixed its comedy program numbers with the more serious events so that there will be no monotony. A motion picture machine will take up a half hour mid-program, and some of the boys will circulate through the crowd with trays heaped high with cigars and cigarettes for what is a smoker without the smokes. The hall will be decorated in naval signal flags, bunting and national colors as befits the day.

Throughout the country this week much editorial publicity is being given to Navy Day. One of the best articles yet written in this connection or one of the best that The Courier-Gazette has seen, comes from the pen of Arthur G. Staples, editor of the Lewis-Journal. This paper takes much pleasure in republishing it.

The purpose of the coming Navy Day is not war; nor is it any glorification of arms. It is a recognition of the essentials of a practical working navy for the United States and a tribute to the traditions of high courage and honorable services to our countrymen on the sea.

The date of the Navy Day is Oct. 27, the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt. All that its program is intended to suggest is a decent turning of thoughts toward this arm of American defense and service. Patriotism, which term

The many rains like wreaths stepped by—
Drooping head and backward thought.
All lost the azure of the sky.
And as November lanes are brown,
So was the spent and sober town.

Our spirits had forgot the spring—
Faded, like pilgrims, desertward.
And where the bluebird's flashing wing?
The purpling brook—the iris pool—
The mist of blue-eyed grass where noons are cool?

Then came her blithe, and floating veil—

SHERIFF SUMMONED

Wescott of Hancock County Must Answer To the Governor and Council.

The Governor and Council Tuesday passed an order requesting Ward W. Wescott of Bluehill, sheriff of Hancock county to appear before that tribunal Friday Nov. 16 on a complaint filed by Attorney General Shaw.

Sheriff Wescott is charged with failure and neglect to enforce the prohibitory liquor law in Hancock county. About three weeks ago Gov. Baxter wrote to Sheriff Wescott asking him to resign which the sheriff refused to do. The proceedings Tuesday were under a constitutional amendment adopted by the people at a special election in 1917 giving the Governor and Council the right to remove delinquent sheriffs. In 1918 T. Herbert White, sheriff of Penobscot county was removed by the Governor and Council for neglect to enforce the prohibitory liquor law and in 1921 Harry D. Cole, South Paris, sheriff of Oxford county, was acquitted on a charge that he permitted games of chance at several fairs in that county.

THE IDEAL WAY.—They helped every one his neighbor, and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.—Isaiah 41:6.

The ancient and familiar pleasantry dealing with rain in its association with a Baptist picnic came often to mind the present week when the three-day programs celebrating the 90th anniversary of the First Baptist church of this city found themselves in contention with the deluges of a sustained autumnal northeast rain storm. Not that it has seemed to make much difference to the loyal adherents of the deep-water faith, for the arrangements of the three days have been brought off on schedule time in the presence of audiences quite up to the mark in point of numbers. With a church body alive to its responsibilities, headed by a pastor whom they delight to support, with modern equipment increased by its new organ, the membership may felicitate itself upon this successful nonagenarian celebration, and look forward with confidence to the rounding out of a full century of usefulness to the community.

Owing to continued interruption from strikes, thirty shoe manufacturing firms have removed from Lynn in the past two years. Their thousands of employees find themselves without work. They just not only their wages during the periods of strike, but now have their income permanently cut off until they can find new jobs. By following the advice of the professional agitators of their union organization the shoe workers have suffered huge net losses. There is a point where employers of labor prefer to close up shop rather than submit to further demands of professional labor leaders. That point has been reached at Lynn, and is being approached in numerous other industries elsewhere.

The Courier-Gazette enters with warm appreciation into the delight voiced by its news correspondents over the recent heavy rains that have deluged the hitherto arid regions of Knox County. What hardships the sustained drouth has laid upon the towns and rural communities only those removed from the privileges of a city water service can have any idea of. It is with grateful hearts that those dependent upon wells and streams have watched the heavens emptying their long-withheld treasures.

The value of newspaper advertising to general business is coming to be more and more recognized. At the recent State convention of loan and building societies one of the speakers laid particular emphasis upon the wisdom of the societies definitely enlarging their appropriations for publicity, in order that they should add to their prosperity, which carries with it the prosperity of the community. We note that the suggestion has borne fruit. Several of the loan and building societies of the State, the prosperous Rockland society among the number, are making known through the columns of the local papers the kind of service that they have to offer to the communities in which they do business. A similar point was made at the recent convention of the American Electric Railway Association. "Merchandise transportation through the printed word is growing very rapidly in the electric railway industry," a report said. The number of companies now using newspaper advertising is about 300, while three years ago not one-tenth that number were doing so. Utility companies it is believed will in the next few years greatly increase their advertising appropriations. The Central Maine Power Co. is an excellent example of the utility companies moved by this modern progressive business policy.

Winslow-Holbrook Post has made tentative plans for the observance of Armistice Day. The features as now planned will be a football game between Rockland High and Brewer High, demonstration of chemical warfare on the Broadway Athletic Field and a dance at the Arcade in the evening. Armistice Day falls on Sunday, but the observance will take place Monday, the 12th, and it is understood, will be universally observed in this city as a holiday.

BAPTISTS ARE REJOICING

Ninetieth Anniversary Exercises Are Marked By Large Congregations and Much Enthusiasm.

Into the history of the First Baptist church this week is being written an interesting chapter dealing with the three days' exercises held in commemoration of its 90th anniversary. Tuesday evening's program presented one of the three living ex-pastors, Rev. W. L. Pratt, now pastor of the Stoughton Street Baptist church in Boston; and another Bay State preacher for whom this parish has an affectionate regard, Rev. Dr. E. C. Herrick of Fall River. The dedication of the new organ featured last night's program and an audience which overflowed into the vestry listened with delight to the recital. The anniversary exercises come to a close with tonight's program, the feature of which will be a sermon by another former pastor, Rev. William J. Day, now entering upon his 11th year as pastor of the First Baptist church of Winthrop, Mass.

Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, Pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The Opening Night

In spite of the fact that the threatening skies of Tuesday afternoon had by dusk brought the promised storm, there was a good attendance at the reception held in the vestry from 6.30 to 7.30. The receiving line formed in the church parlors and comprised Deacons O. A. Palmer, A. W. Palmer and Frank H. Ingraham, Mrs. Frank H. Ingraham, Rev. J. M. Remick of Warren, Rev. E. M. Holman of Camden, Rev. W. J. Day of Winthrop, Mass., Mrs. Day, Rev. W. L. Pratt of Dorchester, Mass., Deacon V. A. Leach, Mrs. Leach, Rev. E. C. Herrick, D. D., and Mrs. Herrick of Fall River, Mass. The reception was given by the Women's Association, with its vice president, Mrs. Evelyn B. Hix, Miss Carolyn Erskine, Mrs. Jennie Bird, Mrs. W. O. Fuller and Mrs. E. E. Hagar. They were assisted in serving delicious punch and cake by Miss Gladys Grant, Crystal Cameron, Leola Robinson and Elizabeth Hager. Miss Carolyn Erskine presided at the punch bowl. The affair assumed a delightful informal nature and the renewal of old acquaintance was the keynote of the evening.

The auditorium was comfortably filled when the speakers, Rev. B. P. Browne, Rev. W. L. Pratt, Rev. W. J. Day, Rev. E. C. Herrick, Rev. W. M. Remick and Rev. E. M. Holman took their places on the platform. The decorations in ferns, autumn berries and cut flowers had been tastefully done by Miss Alice Erskine. The new organ, partially concealed by a large American flag, was naturally a great center of interest, but all that could be seen was a section of the base and the tops of the golden hued pipes.

Miss Elsa Hayden played the piano prelude "Evening Song," Schumann, and the surprised choir composed of 40 boys and girls marched around the aisles to their places in the choir section, singing in the clear voices of youth. The invocation was spoken by Rev. J. M. Remick of the Warren Baptist Church and the responsive reading was led by Rev. W. J. Day of the First Baptist Church, Winthrop, Mass. Rev. E. M. Holman of the Chestnut Street Baptist Church, Camden, offered prayer. Miss Elizabeth Knight played the offertory, violin solo, Berceuse, "Jocelyn."

The professional and recreational by the supplied choir of young boys and girls of the Sunday School was the striking feature of the evening and brought great credit to the organizer and conductor, Mrs. Knott Rankin.

The Church History

The historical survey prepared by Miss Nancy T. Sleeper and Miss Carolyn Erskine was read admirably by Miss Alice Erskine, and set forth interestingly such of the salient historical points as could be covered in this brief scope. The survey follows:

At the 75th Anniversary of the Church an eloquent historical address was delivered by the pastor, Rev. William J. Day, from which we quote liberally.

Sunday, Jan. 31, 1784, Elder Isaac Case, one of the pioneer Baptist ministers of the State of Maine, preached a sermon in Oliver Robbins' barn in that part of the town of Thomaston known as the "Wessaweskeag," now South Thomaston. A powerful revival followed this sermon, so that by the last of May, that year, a church was organized in that same barn with Mr. Case as the pastor.

A house of worship was erected and dedicated in 1796. This edifice stood where built for over a century, being destroyed by lightning Feb. 15, 1898. This First Baptist Church of South Thomaston was the mother of the Second Baptist church of Thomaston, and the Third Baptist church of Thomaston, now known as the First Baptist church of Rockland, this city at that time having no separate existence, but being a part of Thomaston and known as the Shore Village.

Jan. 5, 1833 in the Shore Village a meeting was held which was to determine the future of Baptists in the City of Rockland. It was voted at this meeting to call a council Feb. 2 of that year to assist in organizing the Third Baptist church of Thomaston. The council met, according to the call at 9 a. m., on the above date in the schoolhouse at Blackington's Corner, and the church was organized with 35 constituent members. The last one of these to pass away was Mrs. Eliza Thordley, who died Sept. 22, 1895.

The first deacons to serve the church were John Ingraham, David Crockett and George Thomas. The newly-organized church held meetings alternately at Blackington's Corner in the old schoolhouse and at the Shore Village in a small building which stood on the grounds where the Court House now stands.

The church had no settled pastor the first year but was supplied one-fourth of the time by Rev. Amariah Killoch, who was the pastor of the Baptist church at South Thomaston. Mr. Killoch accepted a call to become pastor March 1, 1834, at a salary of $312. He served the church for 14 years. This was by far the longest pastorate in the history of the church. The need of a meeting-house soon began to be felt, but the church was too financially embarrassed to build such a house alone. There were at this time quite a number of Congregationalists in the village, though they had no church organization and were without a regular minister. A recognized leader among them was Iddo Kimball, a man of some means. Mr. Kimball offered, in behalf of the Congregationalists, to unite with the Baptists in building a house of worship to be occupied jointly by the two denominations. The house was built in 1835. This Union meeting house has been twice substantially rebuilt, and in its modified and beautified form is the house still occupied by the Congregationalist church of Rockland.

The joint ownership of this meeting-house continued until 1838, when the Baptists sold their part to the Congregationalists and March 16th of that year the church voted to build a house of its own. The edifice was completed and dedicated Dec. 1, 1839. This building has been twice enlarged, first during the pastorate of Rev. Isaac Killoch and later under the administration of Rev. W. O. Holman. In 1881 the church was remodelled under the pastorate of Rev. W. C. Barrows, in its present form.

The church has had sixteen pastors during its 90 years of existence. They are as follows:

Amariah Killoch, March 5, 1834-1847; Silas Bailey, April 1, 1848-March 3, 1849; Isaac Killoch, D. D., July 8, 1849-Feb. 24, 1850; Isaac Killoch, April 12, 1851-Sept. 5, 1852; Nathaniel Butler, Jan. 5, 1856-Oct. 5, 1857; Henry A. Harr, July 1, 1860-March 1, 1867; William O. Holman, April 1, 1867-May 1, 1870; Cyrus Tibbets, May 1, 1870-April 28, 1872; S. L. B. Chase, May 19, 1872-April, 1878; William C. Barrows, Nov. 10, 1878-Sept. 26, 1882; William S. Roberts, D. D., Dec. 1, 1882-May 31, 1891; J. H. Parsley, Nov. 1, 1891-April 30, 1897; Robert W. Van Kirk, Nov. 1, 1897-March 31, 1903; William J. Day, July 1, 1903-Sept. 1, 1913; Willard L. Pratt, Dec. 1, 1913-Oct. 31, 1920; Benjamin P. Browne, Jan. 25, 1921.

Among these ministers were men of intellectual power and great executive ability. Some of the most gifted preachers of their day have exercised the pastoral office over this church.

Thirteen clerks have served the church during its history, as follows: Timothy Wellman, Isaac J. Perry, J. Wakefield, E. S. Smith, Rufus Y. Crie, Heman Burpee, Edgar A. Burpee, J. A. Ingraham, George W. White, Rev. S. L. B. Chase, George M. Brainerd, Nancy T. Sleeper, Carolyn L. Erskine. The longest term of service was given by Deacon George M. Brainerd, who filled the office for nearly forty years.

Fourteen Treasurers have looked after the finances, as follows: Henry Ingraham, Joseph Condon, Samuel Libby, Isaac Gregory, Rufus Ingraham, John Wakefield, H. P. Wood, J. A. Ingraham, Jacob Shaw, Jr., H. H. Crie, O. S. Andrews, A. E. Brunberg, Fred A. Carter, Joseph W. Robinson, Deacon Hiram H. Crie held this office for the longest term, having served for a period of about 35 years.

The church has had 24 deacons, as follows: Job Ingraham, David Crockett, George Thomas, Peter Hall, William R. Chapman, Henry Ingraham, Isaac Gregory, Thomas W. Hix, Theodore P. Howard, Mero Killoch, Jacob Shaw, Jr., Hiram H. Crie, George M. Brainerd, A. Bradford Killoch, Frank S. Killoch, Charles A. Young, Ephraim E. Post, Vesper A. Leach, A. W. Palmer, E. E. Hagar, F. H. Ingraham, R. S. Sherman, C. H. Morey, O. A. Palmer, Isaac Gregory and Peter Hall, each served in this capacity for over half a century.

There are three ex-pastors living, Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk, who resides in Pomona, California; Rev. William J. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church in Winthrop, Mass.; and Rev. Willard L. Pratt, pastor of the Stoughton Street Baptist church of Boston, Mass.

It is recorded that during the ministry of Rev. Mr. Day, thirteen fine stained-glass windows were added to the church, seven of them being memorial in character. To these was added, as a gift from the late Hon.

Sidney M. Bird, a beautiful memorial window of exquisite workmanship. Mr. Day also organized the Men's League which is still in a flourishing condition.

The next pastorate was that of Rev. Willard L. Pratt. One of the marked features of his ministry was the remodeling of the sanctuary, with the very beautiful painting in the rear, a gift from the well-known artist, William P. Burpee of Rockland. Extensive improvements were also made to the vestry as well as to the church building.

The present pastor, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, entered upon his duties, Jan. 25, 1921. The Ninetieth Anniversary and the installation of our new church organ will be important matters of history of this pastorate, which having begun so auspiciously, we trust will continue for many years.

The church has prospered greatly under the ministry of these four pastors who are now living, spiritually and materially, large numbers of faithful workers having been added to the church.

Thus ninety years of our church life passes into history. Meanwhile marvelous events have been taking place in the world; great progress has been made in arts and sciences; empires have risen and fallen; illustrious personages have appeared and disappeared; there have been wars and rumors of war, but amid all this tumult and discord, the reverent ear has heard the stately tread of the march of the oncoming Kingdom of Christ on earth, and so, as we gaze into the future with eager anticipation, taking our place by the side of the aged Seer of Patmos, shall we not with him bear the benediction, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."

The Two Speakers

Rev. Willard L. Pratt, pastor of the Stoughton street Baptist church of Boston, brought to his former parishioners an inspiring message under the subject title of "The Church and the Kingdom."

The speaker likened the Christian church to a great giant sequoia tree, whose roots reached far down into the soil of the race's beginnings and whose top lifted itself to the light of Heaven, by glory which gave it strength and power to grow and bless the world.

"The church is not the kingdom," said Mr. Pratt, "it is the bringer in of the kingdom. It is the builder of the wonderful Harmony of life throughout the whole world like the Master Mind has built the many varying sounds of our wonderful new organ into the majestic Harmony of the Kingdom of whole world."

"The story of the Master Builder is told in the blessed book. All the ages long he has been building the great and increasingly complex organ of the Kingdom of Heaven which is the ideal Human Society built after the pattern of the Master Mind. The story of the organ we are enjoying tonight is a story of the wonderful unfolding of the mind of the great Master Organ Builder. First there was the simple shepherd's staff. Then several reeds put together. Then several different grades of reeds, all harmonized into the perfect whole. Then the larger and more complex of the great pressures of air, and the building of the manifold organ consisting of the Great—the pedal, the choir, the solo organ, the echo, and now the chimes, the piano, the flute, the strings; in fact all the varied sounds of all creation are blended together and harmonized into the great orchestra of the mind, all placed under the hand of the master player, so that he can marshal the whole great galaxy of his creative genius, bidding them obey his every will and impulse. How like is all this to the Master Builder of the Race."

Rev. Dr. Herrick of Fall River was upon the program for an address upon last summer's Stockholm Conference, but the lament of the host led him to abbreviate his remarks so that he could glance at only a few of the outstanding features of that memorable occasion, chiefly touching upon phases of the Russian situation as it has developed under Soviet rule. It was a surprising thing to be told that next to the United States, Russia has more Baptists than any country in the world and for the first time in her history now enjoys religious liberty. Russia, he declared, is a much misunderstood country. Dr. Herrick is being called upon the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs for his address upon these topics and it is hoped that he will be brought to Rockland during the coming winter to speak at length before a general audience.

The Organ Dedicated

The dedication of the organ and the recital of last night found the church and vestry filled to capacity, with scores standing all through the interesting program. Following the invocation by Rev. Roy H. Short of Thomaston, W. O. Fuller, chairman of the anniversary committee, presented the organ as a free-will offering by the church and parish in loving memory of those members of former days whose life work was ended, and dedicated to the welfare of the community and the worship of God. The American flag which veiled it was then drawn aside and the great organ seen for the first time was greeted with a burst of applause. The recital which followed was given by C. Winfield Richmond of Bangor.

Mr. Richmond's performance was that of the natural musician whose native talent has been refined by study under the best teachers, notably Widor of Paris, one of whose compositions the player introduced into his program. To the musicianly touch the organ responded with both depth and refinement of tone, thrilling the great audience with the crashing diapason and moving to tears with the exquisite harmonies of the delicate stops. Mr. Richmond's selections aimed to present features of the instrument not often encountered in the music of Sunday programs and admirably served that purpose. They were:

Sonata, ..... Gullmant
Andante from Symphony No. 4, ..... Widor
Sacred Music from Parsifal, ..... Wagner
The Pines, ..... Matthews
Legend, ..... Tolnessen
Angels, ..... Massenet
Andante, ..... Galbraith
Intermezzo, ..... Rogers
America Triumphant, ..... Austin Dunn

The delighted audience was generous with its applause, twice inducing Mr. Richmond to respond to encores, in one of which he played a spirited composition of his own. Mr. Richmond is the organist of All Souls Church of Bangor, the church of which Rev. Chas. A. Moore, D. D., formerly of Rockland, is pastor. The Rockland church made no mistake when they brought him here to give a fitting dedication recital. It is noted as a curious coincidence that when the former organ was dedicated more than 50 years ago it was also a Bangor organist who played it.

The other musical features of the

YOU cannot afford to waste fuel this winter. It is the public duty of every householder to make the most of every log in his woodpile and every pound of coal in his bin.

That is the purpose of the Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System. Not only will it burn any kind of fuel—wood, coal, soft coal or coke—but it will cut down considerably the amount of fuel you generally use.

Glenwood Single-Pipe Economies
1—Heats the house, not the cellar.

- 2—Heats cool air drawn down from inside the house, not the cold air from outdoors.
- 3—Does not waste heat in walls and floors and up the chimney.
- 4—Heats the rooms themselves, not a long system of pipes.
- 5—Regulated as easily as a clock—by the Glenwood Regulating Damper.

Easily and Quickly Installed

We shall be glad to show you how this Modern system will save fuel for you this winter. Estimates will be furnished free if you wish advice on installation.

evening included Dudley Buck's Festival T. Deum, admirably sung by Mrs. Katherine Veazie, soprano, Mrs. Kathleen Marston, contralto, Harold W. Greene, tenor, Raymond K. Greene, bass; solo by Mrs. Sarah Hall Herrick of Fall River, who was heard with great pleasure by the hosts of old-time friends in the audience and two numbers by the Baptist Chorus of 40 voices—The Inflammatus from Stabat Mater, in which Mrs. Rachel S. Browne gloriously sang the solo, and the Hallelujah Chorus from The Messiah. Both numbers were finely sung, the chorus responding with great spirit to Mrs. Browne's artistic conducting and creating a desire on the part of the audience that it might be heard in a concert program of its own. Miss Elsa Hayden, the church organist, played the accompaniments of the several program numbers.

The Organ Described

The instrument dedicated last evening is a two manual pipe organ, built on the tubular pneumatic type of action with the specification as appears below. It was built by the famous Estey Organ Co., of Brattleboro, Vt., under contract made last May through its representative, Clarence E. Briggs of the Boston office. It occupies the choir lot at the left of the pulpit platform, presenting a beautiful and stately appearance with its pained base of richly finished black walnut surmounted by 23 large metal pipes in gilt bronze that stretch across the entire front of the loft. It is supplied with the latest devices in organ equipment. The contract price was $6,300 and a check for that amount was handed to the erector, Mr. Brennan, on the acceptance of the organ by the committee. The following shows the organ's equipment:

AUTO TRAGEDY CLAIMS TWO

Alfred D. Davis of Rockland Meets Terrible Fate At Dunstan's Corner—Companion Dies In Hospital.

Alfred D. Davis, submaster of Sanford High School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Davis of this city, was burned to death shortly after midnight Tuesday when his automobile crashed into an electric car at Dunstan's Corner on the outskirts of Portland. His companion, Miss Doris Folsom, aged 25, an English teacher in the same school died at the Maine General Hospital seven hours later from the result of her injuries. The news was received at the local police station in the early hours of yesterday morning, and was a great shock to the family and friends of this fine young man, whose career as an educator began so auspiciously.

The story of the tragedy was told by the Portland Express-Advertiser last evening.

When the automobile crashed into the head end of the trolley that had left Saco at midnight there was an explosion and the machine burst into flames. The heavy trolley carried the automobile about 50 feet down the track. Davis, who was driving, was apparently rendered unconscious by the impact and was horribly burned before his body could be reached.

Miss Folsom was thrown partly out of the machine and carried from the wreck by Motorman Frye who had run to the scene of the accident. She was rushed to the Maine General Hospital suffering from numerous cuts and burns about the body. She died there at 7.40.

The body of Davis was carried to Quimby's undertaking establishment at Saco after it had been examined by a medical examiner. It was later carried to the parlors of S. S. Rich & Son in Portland.

After Principal Albert W. Boston of Sanford High School had announced the details of the tragedy to the students the entire student body was dismissed until next Monday. A contribution was taken up among the pupils for flowers and arrangements were made to attend the funeral in a body.

Officials of the traction company are at a loss to explain how the automobile had left the State roadway that runs parallel to the trolley rails at the scene of the accident near the Dunstan farm of Mrs. R. W. Cornforth and crashed into the trolley. The distance between the rails and the edge of the roadway is about 10 feet at this point.

At the time of the accident the trolley was coming down a slight grade toward Portland and the automobile was climbing this grade. The rapidity with which the flames enveloped the wrecked automobile was indicated by the fact that Motorman Frye and Conductor John Edgcomb were unable to reach the driver of the machine although they dashed for the burning car, as soon as the trolley was brought to a stop. The wrecked car, a Studebaker coupe, was destroyed by the flames before the body of the driver could be reached. The ambulance of Hay & Peabody was called to the scene and rushed Miss Folsom to the Maine

A dinner and school of instruction for the officers of the Second Fort Command was held last night. The dinner was served at Rockland Hotel following which the meeting was adjourned to the Armory.

Capt. A. B. Lindener, U. S. A., of Portland, senior instructor C. A. C., was here Tuesday night and inspected the Second Fort Command, expressing himself as highly pleased with what he saw.

More than passing notice is accorded the northern window of J. F. Gregory Sons Co. store which contains the exhibit of curios collected by Ralph U. An additional clerk has been added to the staff of Rockland Post Office, in the mailing division, and the man who has been assigned to that position is E. B. Sansom, who has been attached to the Post Office force as a substitute since 1917. Mr. Sansom is an especially efficient clerk and his promotion as a regular in Postmaster Blenheim's official family gives much satisfaction.

The clean-up squad of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce, headed by Frank W. Fuller, A. F. McAlary and A. P. Blaisdell, is gunning the highways and byways for additional memberships. The Chamber is practically assured of 200 members, and with "prospects" now out of the city the outlook is for 225. This would fall 25 short of the goal and would be a disappointment to just that extent, but it would be a great improvement over the entirely inadequate membership which marked the Chambers' first year of existence.

Dr. J. A. Richan, A. F. Wisner, Leo E. Howard, R. V. Stevenson, Carl E. Morse, E. K. Gould and Dr. J. F. Burgess of this city and E. M. Hall, Frank M. White and H. W. Piffard of Vinalhaven attended the special convocation of the Grand Commandery, K. T. in Portland Monday and took part in the parade which numbered 600 Knights Templar. The occasion was the official inspection by Grand Master Leonidas P. Newbury of Illinois—said to be the first visitation the Grand Commandery of Maine has had from a grand master in 70 years.

General Hospital where physicians declared she could not survive the injuries she had sustained. It was believed inhaling of flames caused her death. The impact of the collision had turned the automobile over twice before it finally rested on its wrecked wheels.

A friend of Frank D. Folsom, father of the girl, said that when Mr. Davis called at the Folsom home last night he explained to Mrs. Folsom that he had experienced trouble with the automatic windshield cleaner on his car. Friends of the couple were of the opinion that this might have been a contributing factor in the apparent confusion that the driver encountered just before the crash occurred.

The couple had come to this city to attend the performance of Hamlet at the Jefferson Theatre and after leaving the theatre they started for Sanford.

The motorman and conductor of the trolley that collided with the machine explained to the officials of the company that they saw the Davis car approaching them. They said it was in the middle of the roadway and when just in front of the trolley it turned at almost a right angle to the trolley tracks and crashed into the head end of the trolley. The latter was thrown from the tracks by the impact. Dr. G. C. Prescott, city physician of Biddeford was called to the Cornforth farm where Miss Folsom had been taken and rendered medical assistance pending arrival of the ambulance from this city.

Miss Doris Folsom was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Folsom of Sanford. She graduated from Portland High School in 1913, where she was a medal scholar. She later attended and graduated from Wellesley College and then was assigned as an English teacher at Sanford High School where she has been teaching for the past four years. While in this city she was a member of the First Free Baptist Church and later took an active part in interests of the Baptist Church in Sanford. Her father is a member of the firm of Folsom-Brehaud Company, dry goods firm at Sanford. She is survived by her parents, a sister Edna, engaged in Y. W. C. A. social work in Passaic, N. J., and her grandmother, Mrs. Olive Farrar.

Alfred D. Davis was born in Rockland 24 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Davis. He received his education in the public schools of Rockland graduating from the High School and later from the University of Maine. He also attended Bates College for two years. He served one year as principal of Jonesport High School and from there went to Sanford High School, where he was on his second year as sub-master. In his early school days he became greatly interested in athletics and when at Jonesport he was coach of the athletic teams. During the past summer he became interested in radio and during his vacation he took up studies at Sanford High School. His parents and a sister, Evelyn Davis, a teacher in the New York schools, survive him.

All members of Winslow-Holbrook Post are eligible to attend the complimentary supper which will be served to the men of the U. S. S. Putnam Saturday evening—Navy Day.

PLEA OF INSANITY

Will Be Entered Tomorrow In the Case of Fred L. Post, Charged With Murder.

On the assumption that indictment for murder will be brought against Fred L. Post by the Lincoln County grand jury now in session at Waterville, Mr. Johnson today stated that he should enter a plea of "not guilty because of insanity," and ask to have the prisoner sent to the insane hospital in Augusta for observation. Reports would be made from time to time, and the case would be in order for trial at the April term in Lincoln County.

Mr. Johnson's motion will be made tomorrow morning. The Rockland attorney because of ill health and the tremendous amount of work involved in preparing a murder case, sought to withdraw, and advised Mrs. Post to engage ex-Attorney General William R. Pattangall. This she did, but Mr. Pattangall flatly refused to serve unless Mr. Johnson would stay in the case to assist. The latter finally consented.

THAT "R" CLUB SOCIAL

Proved a Great Success at the High School Building Tuesday — The Vaudeville Troupe.

The Halloween party given by the "R" Club at the High School Tuesday evening proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the year. The assembly hall was attractively decorated in Halloween colors, orange and black, which are also the school and club colors.

Among the many features was a vaudeville sketch given by the girls. Dot Breen was the star performer, and her costume was a tremendous hit. The lucky number dance and the candy auction caused plenty of excitement. James Murphy qualified as auctioneer. The music was furnished by a four-piece student orchestra which was very effective.

During the evening punch, cake and candy was served. Much credit is due Coach and Mrs. Philip A. Jones who took great interest in putting the affair over. They were assisted by Helen Griffin, Ed Breen, Agnes Flanagan, Adelaide Traflet, Evelyn Perry, Elmer Rising, Wendell Thornton, Sidney Snow and James Murphy.

The "R" Club has been formed by Coach Jones for the purpose of promoting interest in athletics. Officers will be elected next week and a number of social events arranged for the winter. Membership is limited to students who have made their "Rs."

MORE PRAISE COMES

For Fine Work Done By the Coast Artillery Corps During the Prison Fire.

The important part played by the Rockland and Thomaston batteries of Coast Artillery during the prison fire last month reached the ears of the highest department officers. Capt. Ralph W. Brown, commanding Battery G of Rockland, received this communication yesterday:

The following letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau, in commendation of the excellent duty performed by your organization is transmitted for the information of your battery:

"The Militia Bureau hereby extends its congratulations to the officers and enlisted men of Batteries F and G, 24th Artillery, Maine National Guard, for the very difficult duty accomplished by them in connection with the recent fire in the State Prison, Thomaston."

"It is evident that the mobilization of the organizations was speedily effected and that their work in handling traffic through the town as well as in managing the crowd outside of the prison walls and in guarding the prisoners who had to be removed from the prison was carried out with efficiency and dispatch."

"As Chief of the Militia Bureau I am exceedingly gratified to learn of this fresh evidence of the dependability of the National Guard. I hereby add my hearty and personal congratulations to the official expression from the entire Militia Bureau."

(Signed) George C. Richards, Major General, Chief, Militia Bureau.

"The above communication from the Militia is a great credit to your organization," writes Col. Forz. "The commanding officer of the 24th Artillery concurs with the above in every respect."

THE DANGEROUS TIME

For Operating Motor Vehicles Is Right Now—Director Wheeler's "Don'ts."

"I have operated an automobile for a great many years," said Merton L. Wheeler, acting director of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Department, "and have been connected with the automobile department for several years, and my experience has taught me that from now until the close of the season is the most dangerous time to operate motor vehicles. The streets and highways are wet and slippery and fallen leaves and even the best adjusted brakes when applied may or may not work just as the driver expects."

"A suggestion, and one which is applicable at all seasons of the year, is never to pass an intersecting street without slowing down. An act passed by the last Legislature says that all vehicles shall have the right of way over vehicles approaching at intersecting public ways from the left and shall give the right of way to those approaching from the right. Not everyone is familiar with this law, therefore, the utmost precaution should be taken."

"Neither has anyone a right to drive through places where children are playing without slowing down. Parents and teachers should keep children out of the streets as much as possible and should constantly try to instill into their young minds the danger of suddenly running out without first looking up and down the street. Commissioner Lyman H. Nelson truthfully and forcefully emphasized this fact at a hearing before the Highway Commission when he said, 'In the street is not the right place for children to play, but I want to say to you that I think it is absolutely incumbent upon the driver of an automobile to take the utmost precaution when a child is near a machine. And I have no patience with those who are running over children riding bicycles. A child has a child's mind and it works differently from an adult's mind, and it is incumbent upon those operating automobiles to use the utmost care when a child is anywhere near a machine.'"

"No one has a right to operate a car unless it is properly equipped with lights and this also applies to teams. Everyone should see to it that his lights are on from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise."

"No one has a right to drive over crossings or by electric cars where pedestrians are walking or getting on and off cars without slowing down."

"No one has a right to take a drink of liquor and attempt to drive a car. I think in keeping in mind some of these simple and at the same time important suggestions, many accidents might be avoided."

STRAND THEATRE

Dell Henderson, who directed "Jaqueline, or Blazing Barriers," describes the making of the big forest fire scene. "When we began work on this production," he says "it was understood by everyone that no effort was to be spared in making it the greatest of its kind. The crowning feature is, of course, the forest fire, which I know I am safe in asserting is the largest and most extravagant conflagration ever staged. A staff of specially qualified experts were taken up to Maine for the making of the pyrotechnic effects. It was necessary to employ Newman lights, smoke-pots, lycopodium powder, hundreds of gallons of crude oil, gasoline, kerosene and quite a bit of dynamite. To fan the flames to greater intensity aeroplane propellers were employed as well as compressed air-pumps with air pipes running out into the woods. The taking of this remarkable sequence of fire scenes involved tremendous risks to both the players and technical staff. The six cameramen worked from platforms built in the trees just a few feet from the blazing inferno. And so intense was the heat that one cameraman was compelled to jump out of the trees just as a flaming branch fell upon him. He was badly burned, but he did so, a tremendously expensive motion picture camera as well as many feet of almost priceless negative."

Richard Talmadge closes the week in "The Speed King," and it's so speedy that it fairly sizes. Dick Talmadge has been described as a new meteor among screen stars—a paragon of two-footed, hurry-up, head-long heroism—a cinema sensation. From comparative obscurity he has risen in an incredibly short time to an enviable position on the screen, the world's foremost thrill actor. Possessed of a rare personality which endears him to all, fearlessly reckless, his sensational work and daring accomplishments are dazzling. And his liveliness, recklessness and acting already furnish all his pictures with an atmosphere that is particularly refreshing as it is something different. Talmadge has been called a second Fairbanks, and there are many who predict that his popularity will be as great if not greater than that famous star. He has bounded into stardom in much the same way as he bounces through his pictures—straight into the hearts of the audience.

Don't forget that there are three performances Saturday night, beginning at 8, 8:45 and 9:30 o'clock—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Today will be the last opportunity to see it. Clean, wholesome and entertaining is James Cruze's latest Paramount production of "Rugles of Red Gap," which delighted a capacity audience at its opening showing at the Park yesterday. Harry Leon Wilson, author of "Merton of the Movies," wrote the novel and the play from which the screen version was made. The story is fine, the play great, and the picture grandiose to surpass.

Charles Jones in "Second Hand Love" will be the feature photograph for Friday and Saturday.

Other players who give absorbing cinema sketches are: Ruth Dwyer, leading lady for Mr. Jones, Charles Coleman and Frank Wood. Angela is the heroine who deserts her husband upon discerning his true and repulsive character. Living in a small town she is imposed upon by a wealthy miser. Andy, however, appears on the scene when both the miser and husband strain to obtain her. Natural, sometimes very dramatic, the story maintains a charming gaiety throughout. There will also be a two reel comedy and review. Don't forget Navy Day—Friday and Saturday—adv.

JOLLY JESTER COMING

Health Clown McKay Is To Pay a Visit To the Schools of Knox County.

Leaving in his wake ten thousand smiles and thousands of happy boys and girls, J. Wallace McKay, better known as "The Jolly Jester," is making his cheerful way through the State of Maine from Kittery to Ft. Kent. Before he has concluded his trip more than 25,000 Maine children will have watched his inimitable antics, will have caught his infectious laughter, and will remember his earnest advice on the things to eat and the things they should not eat—providing they want to grow up and become strong and healthy men and women.

The Jolly Jester will conclude his trip to Maine on Nov. 14. He began in York county, on Oct. 8. Last week was spent in Cumberland county including performances in 10 of Portland's largest school buildings. This week he is in Androscoggin and Kennebec counties. He then goes to Bar Harbor and other points in Hancock county for two days and then into Aroostook for four days, during which he will visit many rural schools and the more important cities. On his way home to New York he will stop in Franklin and Knox counties.

He is being routed in ten Maine counties by the Maine Public Health Association through the courtesy of the American Child Health Association of which Herbert Hoover is president. The expenses of his trip in Maine during which he will teach many health lessons to many thousands of Maine boys and girls, will be borne through the sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds. Maine health workers and school authorities are generous in their praise of his work.

Dressed as a typical clown, using tricks of ventriloquism, playing with a number of cleverly devised marionettes, talking to the children just like "one of the gang," he gets their confidence and with this as a background he imparts a great deal of exceedingly helpful information on the things that girls and boys should do in order to keep from being sick. He does this in a way that impacts the information on youthful memories and they remember the advice he has given for weeks after he has gone.

Knox county will welcome him with great joy.

NAVY DAY PLANS

is used here in no derogatory sense, can do no better service to itself than to open its mind to this proposal and join heartily in its furthering. No sane person will deliberately deny to our Nation the proper safeguards for commerce and national defense. To devote a day to a proper understanding of the needs of the navy, its relations to the rest of the world under limitations of armament program the peace service of the Navy, is a sensible thing to do.

Too much thought is given to the Navy as a fighting arm. Too little to its use in peace, in commerce, in science and in cultivation of seamanship. Let us give a little consideration to this element of its service, alone, and for the time being forget the service it has been and should be in defense of our country.

In the first place, a proper navy, properly manned, is a way to peace, especially upon nations which recognize only the power of restraining force. Passing over that thought which might be amplified in a hundred examples, turn to the uses of the Navy in Peace alone.

We recently read in the newspapers the terrible tale of the burning of Smyrna. Twelve additional United States war vessels, destroyers, were rushed to Smyrna from near by ports and this country, swelling the number there to twenty. The humanitarian work of our Navy beyond words to relate.

It was mother and father to those stricken people. It saved thousands of lives of little children; it took the homeless and hungry, the fatherless children and the widowed women under its wing. A few weeks ago, Japan went down in earthquake. The Navy stationed at the Philippines was rushed to Japan. The newspaper press is full of the tales of its service. It saved thousands of lives; carried food and supplies; took people away from the ruins; served as the most vigilant and active humanitarian agency that we could have at hand in such a crisis; perhaps instilled into the mind of Japan a relief from its war-like attitude and a new vision of human brotherhood.

One might multiply the stories of the service of our Navy in such world tragedies many times; Martique; the Boxer Rebellion; the relief of famine in foreign lands; the protection of Americans in the opening of the World War—those people stranded in European cities.

In commerce it is indispensable. It is safe to assume that commerce is desirable. Germany has gone along under its laws much more favorable to commerce than the laws of the United States are at present under the La Follette law, and is rapidly regaining the supremacy of the seas in commerce. The Navy is today about the only fertile field in which ship-building and its arts are cultivated. The old-fashioned ship-building city has disappeared, its craftsmen dead; its art lost. The navy alone retains the seed of the industry. Here, chiefly, are seamen trained; here, chiefly, can we ever look for a supply of sailors when the commerce of the U. S. A. is restored (if it ever be restored) to the seas.

W. C. T. U. WORKER DEAD

Mrs. Hannah Johnston Bailey, 84, widow of Moses Bailey of Winthrop, died Tuesday night in Portland. Her death was due to the infirmities of her advanced age and her decline has been rapid the past few years. She was one of the best known Women Christian Temperance Union workers in the country, very liberal in her contributions to the cause and devoted much time and energy in promoting its good work. She became identified with the union early in life and was long president of the Winthrop organization, aided in the State organization wherever any of its activities required her services and was made superintendent of the peace and arbitration department in 1889. In connection with those duties, she traveled extensively all over this country with the result that the peace department was organized in nearly every state.

BLODGETT-LEACH

A charming wedding service took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vesper A. Leach, Summer street, at noon Tuesday, when their daughter, Dorothy was joined in holy wedlock to Thurston Pond Blodgett, in the presence of the immediate families. As a prelude to the ceremony, "At Dawning" (Cadmian) was sung by Mrs. Benjamin P. Browne. At the opening strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March the bridal procession moved from the upper hall to the arbor of chrysanthemums and autumn leaves in the living room. Little Ruth Leach, bearing the ring in an Easter lily, and little Rachel Browne with a basket of carnations headed the party, unwinding white ribbons from the staircase to the arch. Miss Helen Leach, bridesmaid, was followed by the bride on the arm of her father. Beneath the arch they were awaited by the groom and the best man, Daniel Rochford, of Harvard Law School, '24, a college roommate of the groom. Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, pastor of the First Baptist church was the officiating clergyman. The bride made a lovely picture in a gown of white silk crepe and lace, with a veil caught with lilies-of-the-valley.

ALL KINDS OF SPORTS

Football, Baseball, Trotting and Basketball Served Up In This Dish.

I SAW RALPH WHITTIER

at the Rockland-Camden football game last Saturday. Up in Rockport he is better known by the nickname of "Scup," but the name is immaterial; the essential fact about this young man is that he is always on the job when it comes to two things. One is his position as foreman of the Rockland & Rockport Lima Corp.'s cooper shop; the other is any athletic event which takes place within an easy radius of his home. In Rockport he has figured prominently as a baseball and basketball player, but his interest in sports runs the whole gamut.—The Sporting Editor.

The outstanding changes in the basketball rules for 1924 are those which deal with personal fouls, according to Spaulding's Official Basketball rules book which has been received in Maine by Central Board officials of this State.

Effective this season all free shots from personal fouls this year must be made by the player fouled, instead of allowing one player on a team to shoot all the fouls. For some time there has been a steadily increasing desire to require the player against whom the foul is committed attempt a free throw. While this change under former conditions might have increased fouling, it was felt by the rules committee that the present uniform use of the four personal foul rule which automatically ejects a player from the game will be sufficient to curb the tendency to make them purposely and consequently the change has been made.

It is also noted that a substitute may not be inserted for the purpose of attempting a free throw after a personal foul. If the player entitled to make the free throw is injured so that he must leave the game, the substitute may then throw. Free throws are so few under the changes that were made last year, that any player is permitted to make these throws as formerly. Many of the former technical fouls have now been classed as violations, and give the ball only to an opponent out of bounds.

Another important change in the rules is that under rule 15, sections 7 to 9. The new change states that "When a personal foul is committed against a player who is in his own goal zone, two free throws are awarded only when the fouled player is in possession of the ball. If a player who is outside of his goal zone is fouled when in the act of throwing for a goal, two free throws are awarded. A double foul regardless where committed, gives each team one free throw."

Among the minor changes made include the rule that the baskets must be nets of white cord suspended from black metal rings, and the ball tightly inflated. The ball is considered out of bounds when it strikes the edge or the back of the backboard.

Rule 8 has been changed requiring that the time for boys of High School age be eight minute quarters and for younger men six minute quarters.

Change in rule 11 dealing with time-out states "Time is to be taken out whenever two or more free throws are awarded. This applies as formerly relative to double fouls, and now applies when two or more free throws are awarded the same team. In the latter case time is resumed when the ball leaves the player's hand on the second free throw."

A captain may request time out when ever the ball is dead or when ever in play in possession of his team. The other rules are the same as last season. Heretofore it has been the custom of coaches to spend all time in developing one or two foul shooters, but now they must put time in every player in this department of play.

The General Electric Engineering School defeated the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Freshmen Saturday 14 to 6. The Engineers' second touchdown was made by Clyde Record of Rockland after intercepting a forward pass near the close of the game. One of the newspaper reports says that C. Record and Busky gained almost at will through the Tech's yearling's line, while Mackey and O. Record gathered in some fine passes. The Apprentice, a newspaper published by the General Electric, says: "Otho Record of Rockland, Me., was recently elected captain of the football team. Record, who has not been here long, is very popular and a stellar player, so that no mistake was made in giving him this honor. He plays the fullback position, while his brother Clyde, who made a great run in the Lowell game, holds down the half-back position." The Apprentice contains numerous references to these two sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Record. One reads: "Otho and Clyde Record, sheiks from Rockland, Me., are right there in their knickerbockers."

Zev, international three year old champion, as a result of his decisive victory Saturday over Papyrus, the English Derby winner, will settle his rivalry with My Own for American horses in the Latonia championship at Latonia, Ky., Nov. 3, unless present plans go astray.

The Maine College Series will furnish two lively games Saturday, when Bowdoin meets Bates in Brunswick and Maine fights it out with Colby in Waterville. Bowdoin feels that unfair decisions robbed her of a victory last Saturday and in order to remain a Saturday team, the Lewiston college has a scrappy team, however, and the sledding will not be easy. Maine proposes to go through the series with a clean slate, but Colby also has pennant aspirations.

Lee Fohl, former manager of the St. Louis Browns has consented to manage the Red Sox during the 1924 season, succeeding Frank Chance. Fohl was let out by the St. Louis club in mid-season this year.

"Casey" Stengel, who immortalized himself in the recent world's series, played ball in six different leagues before he finally found a permanent berth in the National circuit, ten years ago.

Earl Sande, who rode Zev in the $100,000 match race against Papyrus, has been riding thoroughbreds since he was nine years old, and has been a success from the start.

A POLITICAL SPHINX

What Does Ford Want? What Will He Do?—Other Political Matters.

Henry Ford will not head any third party ticket organized with his help or on his initiative, according to those in Washington who pretend to know what is in Mr. Ford's mind. It is stated that Mr. Ford's attitude is one of indifference toward a nomination from any quarter.

"If the people want me for President let them go ahead and elect me," is Mr. Ford's attitude. Any idea that he will engage in organizing a third party to further his political fortunes is not credited.

It is recalled that Mr. Ford's entrance to politics was made in 1923 when he won the Presidential preference primary in Michigan over Senator William Aldrich Smith. At that time Ford refused to consider to be a candidate. Senator Smith claimed after the election that Ford went so far as to promise him that he would not be a candidate. But Ford's name was entered upon popular petition, and he failed to write the letter to the Secretary of State necessary to prevent the printing of the name on the ballot. He never at any time declared his candidacy, but he carried the State in the election despite all that the organization which supported Senator Smith could do.

Similarly in 1918 he refused to declare his party affiliation as a candidate for Senator. At the behest of President Wilson, he stated that he would accept election to the Senate, but that the matter was up to the people and he would make no campaign. He was entered by petition in both the Democratic and Republican primaries. He won the Democratic nomination and came within a few thousand votes of defeating Truman H. Newberry for the Republican nomination. Neither in the primary nor election of that year did Ford make any personal campaign.

When the scandal arose over Newberry's election, the Newberry supporters ransacked the State of Michigan for some concrete evidence of use of money or other political activity by Ford, but without turning up a scintilla of evidence in that direction.

Ford's favorite expression in discussing himself as a political possibility has always been, "It is in the lap of the gods."

Those most familiar with him do not believe that he will at any time declare himself as an aspirant for the Presidency. Neither, they say, is he likely at any time to state whether he is a Republican or a Democrat.

Assuming that he really wants the Presidency, as most people believe that he does, he apparently thinks that his best hope lies in letting the movement rise from the people. Any idea that he will go out and organize a third party, therefore, seems absurd. Ford has never in his previous political adventures been willing to compete with politicians in their own field. His political methods are as unique and unorthodox as his industrial methods, but it remains to be seen whether they will achieve equal success.

Republican Progressives in the West who will build the balance of the new Congress are mapping out a program both as to legislature and the organization of the House and Senate, and will prepare to enforce their demands by every available means.

Because of the rather unusual situation this will develop and the fact that the 1924 national political campaign is in the offing, leaders of the two dominant parties in Congress look for the enactment of the affirmative legislation at the session beginning Dec. 3.

Adjournment probably will be taken in May, for the national political convention and much of the time to that date will be taken up with the framing and passing of the annual appropriation bills.

Enactment of a soldiers' bonus bill is freely predicted, but beyond that, leaders are not inclined to commit themselves. Taxes and tariff revisions are looked upon as only remote possibilities. Practical politicians in Congress do not hesitate to say that these are dangerous subjects to handle during a national political year.

An Associated Press despatch from Detroit says:

Formation of a new political party with Henry Ford as its standard bearer will be undertaken at a national organization conference of all Ford-for-President Clubs, to be held here Dec. 12, 13 and 14. The conference, according to leaders of the movement, probably will name a date and place for a membership convention.

The conference call will go out within a few days, it was announced by William Kronberg, Secretary of the Dearborn Ford-for-President Club. "It was decided upon," he said, "only after insistent demand from Ford Clubs throughout the country."

The Dearborn Club, he said, had been inactive for some time owing to its inability to obtain from Henry Ford any statement as to whether or not he would accept nomination by a party the clubs might organize.

"We virtually were forced into action," Mr. Kronberg said, "many of the clubs in other States threatened to proceed with a convention call if we did not do so." Mr. Kronberg estimated the number of Ford Clubs now in existence at between 300 and 400 and added that he was advised the organization conference would attract at least 3,000 delegates and visitors.

Sessions of the organization conference, he said, would be held in the Auditorium at Dearborn, home of Henry Ford.

A meeting of the National Progressive party will be held in Omaha Nov. 20-22 at which an attempt will be made to unite all farmer labor co-operative and progressive political forces and to remedy the existing economic evils.

*****

Inquiry into the political situation in New England was made Tuesday by President Coolidge in conference with Earl S. Kinsley, National committee man from Vermont and Frank N. Knox, publisher of the Manchester Union. Mr. Knox told the President that the election of Porter H. Dale and E. W. Gibson Republican senatorial and congressional candidates in Vermont was assumed, but said the Republican organization nevertheless desired the aid of the national administration.

PARAGON MUST PAY

Waldoboro Water Co. Has No Right To Give Free Service, Says Utilities Commission.

The Public Utilities Commission in a decision rendered Tuesday in the case of Waldoboro Water Company in a case against itself, in relation to rates, declares that in giving the Paragon Button Corporation free water service, the Waldoboro Water Company is giving an unreasonable preference or advantage. The commission in its decision sets aside the contract that the water company has with the button corporation and says that the button corporation must pay rates for its water. This decision is an unusual one, and it is said that it may go to the law court for final settlement.

"We feel that the deed of the town of Waldoboro in giving the Paragon Button Corporation free water service, is giving an unreasonable preference or advantage," the commission says. "The water company has with the button corporation a contract that the button corporation must pay rates for its water. This decision is an unusual one, and it is said that it may go to the law court for final settlement."

"By our course of reasoning and our appraisal of the deeds, we are led to the conclusion that the button factory has no right superior to those of the parties in the Guilford and Searsport cases."

"We may state that no deed to the Paragon Button Corporation appears on record or has been introduced in this case, the last conveyance of this so-called 'shoe factory' property being from Paul F. Dusha to the Medomak Holding Corporation, undated, but recorded August 23, 1920. This latter fact has not influenced our decision, because we have treated the case as if the fee to the reservoir and that its rights were co-extensive with the rights established in the town deed, for obviously the rights of the present grantee derived from the town can be no greater than the original rights of the town itself."

"Whether the easement granted to the Waldoboro Water Company may be termination or not is a question for our consideration, for we are dealing with the situation as it exists at this town and as it existed at the time of the petition and hearing, no change having subsequently occurred; nor is it necessary for us to consider whether the rights of the water company or others having interests in the reservoir may be petitioned or apportioned."

"Having given thorough consideration to the evidence submitted to us, we conclude that the proposed increase of one dollar in the first faucet rate filed in the proposed schedule, is not justified and should be denied."

"The other increases for services proposed in the same schedule, other than the first faucet charge, and the establishment of rates for services not now especially comprehended in the company's rate schedule and the rates proposed for large users as the Paragon Button Corporation, should be allowed, with some modifications."

GEORGIA WOMAN SINGING PRAISES

How Happy Days Overtook Mrs. Foster of Marietta.

"Dear Mr. Priest:
Your Priest's Indigestion Powder has done me more good than any other remedy I have ever tried for indigestion. I consider it invaluable and would not be without it. I have recommended it to others, and they say the same thing."

Mrs. Julia Foster, Marietta, Ga.
We feel that the deed of the town of Waldoboro in giving the Paragon Button Corporation free water service, is giving an unreasonable preference or advantage. The commission in its decision sets aside the contract that the water company has with the button corporation and says that the button corporation must pay rates for its water. This decision is an unusual one, and it is said that it may go to the law court for final settlement."

TOO MANY WHOLESALERS
But In Spite Of It They Have Made Large Profits, Says Coal Reports.

Wholesalers in the coal industry during the recent years have been taking profits at a rate of more than 200 per cent over their pre-war margins. The coal commission reported today while retail coal dealers, in spite of increasing costs have been taking less. The commission's study of coal distribution resulted in its recommendation to President Coolidge and Congress that the federal government be empowered to regulate fuel distribution in times of shortage, but that the retail handling of coal be left chiefly for local treatment.

Though the commission ceased its work Sept. 22, the text of its report on coal distribution became available Monday in complete form for the first time. The conclusions advanced were unanimously adopted.

"The commission's study indicates that there are altogether too many wholesalers," the report said, "but that notwithstanding this fact, the wholesale trade has made large profits in most of the ten-year period from 1913 to 1922 inclusive, and excessive profits in the panic years, 1917 and 1920. The year 1922 generally showed more moderate and even earnings on account of the curtailment of the tonnage by strike. The commission's study also indicates that in times of shortage the pyramiding of wholesale margins through the speculative activity of wholesalers results in the enhancement of prices without furnishing the public an equivalent in distribution service."

THE SEASON'S MUSTERS

Defiance of Rhode Island Carried Off Honors For Longest Throw—Protector of Brockton Most Money.

The Defiance of Riverside, R. I. made the best playing record in the 74th New England Veteran Firemen's muster season, which closed Oct. 13. This machine is a 12 1/2-inch Button & Blake and is the largest machine in the sport in New England.

The honors for securing the largest amount of money goes to Protector 3 of Brockton, which won $1755, and the Col. Frank L. Crocker trophy, valued at $300. The Washington of Wickford, R. I. was next with $1225. The Hancock of Brockton took $825 and the Defiance was next with $790.

There were 24 musters during the 1924 season, and at three of them, all in Maine, prizes were awarded for second-class engines. At the 24 musters water prizes totaling $11,865 were paid to companies, the water prizes paid second-class engines being $725. At the Kingston, R. I. muster there was a purse of $950, divided into 12 prizes, and there were only nine competing companies, so each took a prize and $45 was unexpended. The John O. Mills trophy, a silver cup, was taken by the Nonantum of Providence at Kingston, R. I.

There were 63 different contesting engines at the musters of 1923, five less than in the previous year. There were several that have not been seen in contests in recent years. There were 21 machines that appeared at only one muster, eight went to two, and 22 did not get any money.

The Protector of Brockton attended 16 musters and won money in all but one, having attended 32 musters in the past two years and having taken a prize at all but two. The Hancock attended 16 musters and took 12 prizes, while the Enterprise took but seven prizes in 14 payouts.

The Protector of Brockton holds a record of 30 prizes in 32 musters in two years, and of having won prizes aggregating $5030 in three years. They also hold the silver shield as champions of Brockton. The Association this year won the Col. Frank Crocker Trophy, a bronze miniature Hummelman hand engine, offered as an additional prize to first winner at the golden anniversary of the Brockton Fair.

The world and Massachusetts records are held by the Hancock of Brockton, 263 feet 8 1/2 inches, made April 19, 1919, at Highland Park, Avon. The Maine State record is held by the Sagadahoc of Bath, Me., and was made at Bath, Me., Aug. 12, 1922, and is 242 feet 7 1/4 inches. The Defiance of Riverside, R. I. established the Rhode Island record of 249 feet 1 1/4 inches at Riverside on Aug. 18.—F. Burt Jaquith in the Boston Globe.

SOUTH RHODESIA'S RISE

There's No Suggestion of the Dark Continent In This African Metropolis.

South Rhodesia, to which Great Britain has just granted the right of self-government, was expected to be a second Rand but has turned out to be a South African Kansas, observes a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"At present South Rhodesia has a government like none other in the world. It discloses the only instance where a great corporation, the British South Africa Company, governs a vast and populous country in which a considerable white population is actively engaged in business, politics and farming. Hitherto and elsewhere that form of government has been reserved for native, and usually backward, peoples."

Freedom Automatically Comes Up

"The country's future status came up automatically at this time under the charter granted by Victoria at the behest of Cecil Rhodes, which charter provided that at the end of 25 years, or at the end of any subsequent 10-year period, it might be renewed, altered or annulled. The quarter century expired in 1914, when it was reaffirmed. Discussions about action to be taken in 1924 brought the announcement that the country is to join the family of British states."

"It is hard to realize how far South Africa has emerged from a 'dark continent' status; and South Rhodesia's rise has been kaleidoscopic. Should an airplane land you today at its metropolis, Bulawayo, you might be invited to lecture about your trip before a group of gentlemen in evening dress. You would find the convenience of a modern hostelry in Bulawayo's big hotel."

Pain in Head! Cut Off a Head!

"Stroll down a broad, paved, electric-lighted street, however, and you encounter many natives, peaceable and nearly nude. Less than 50 years ago the blood-thirsty Lobengula held sway here over the war-like Matabeles. This crochety chief had an idea that a pain could be cured by the sacrifice of a head from any chance passerby. And he seemed to have as many pains as a highly civilized hypochondriac."

"With the tissue of a William Penn, Cecil Rhodes bought the mining rights to Lobengula's domain for a monthly pension, a thousand rifles and some ammunition. But the empire builder's most famous exploit occurred many years later in this, his namesake colony. After a native outbreak was put down by Lord Plumer and 800 soldiers the tribesmen took to the Matopos."

ADVERTISING MAN SENDS PRAISE

Mr. W. H. Benson of Baltimore, had considerable worry about his daughter. For over a year he was kept in anxiety, but it seems from the following letter that he and his daughter are both worry-free now:

"I have been talking about your Dr. True's Elixir. It is great stuff! The Elixir is doing good work for my daughter; please send us two bottles. Yours for health,"—W. H. Benson.

Scores and scores of such letters show us that Dr. True's Elixir has been most successful for use in relieving constipation. Watch these symptoms: Constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, cramps, eyes heavy and dull, bad breath, all lead to more serious conditions—bad colds, grippe, etc. To ward off or make attack light take Dr. True's Elixir. 40c—60c—$1.20.

mountains. Thither marched Rhodes, with only two companions, unarmed, and camped along the hills until he had interviewed every important chief and concluded a peace. For two months he remained, surrounded by fierce, blood-thirsty savages.

"The View of the World"
"While in these mountains on that precarious mission Rhodes is said to have selected the site of his world-famous burial place, which he called 'the view of the world.' Between two great boulders is the mountain-top grave with the simple inscription, 'Here Lie the Remains of Cecil John Rhodes.'"

"A second grave, that of Dr. Jameson, recalls the occasion when this 'slight, bald, mild little man' led his heroic handful of men against the Matabeles at Bulawayo. There the savage horde made their last stand after a series of forays against settlers. Jameson wired Rhodes for advice and got the laconic reply, 'Read Luke, fourth, thirty-one.'"

"Jameson sent for a missionary Bible and found this injunction 'Or what king, going to make war against another king, sitteth not down first, and consulteth whether he may be able with ten thousand to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand?' Jameson wired back, in substance, 'All right, I have read it,' and then planted the British flag firmly in Bulawayo and crushed Lobengula's power."

"Everybody knows, in an academic way, of South Rhodesia's great natural spectacle, the Victoria Falls. Glibly reciting its dimensions—a mile wide and from 250 to nearly 350 feet high—means little. The imaginative person might stand on Capitol Hill, in Washington, look at the Capitol's dome and try to visualize a sheet of water higher than that dome extending all the way from the Capitol, down Pennsylvania Avenue, to the White House."

Bridge Publicity Device

"Even then he would miss the roar audible ten miles away and the feel of the mist which carries almost as far. And the spectacle of this great water volume hurtling off through a 100 foot outlet into a yawning gorge that winds away for forty miles. And the bridge over this gorge at nearly 400 feet above the water level."

"The many-sided Cecil Rhodes had an eye for publicity. It was he who insisted that the bridge should be built near enough to the falls so the spray would wet the cars as trains rolled by. Engineers told him 'no,' as they told Harriman when he proposed his 'wild scheme' of a bridge across Great Salt Lake. Both Rhodes and Harriman had their way."

"But in his hope for South Rhodesia's future, Rhodes was mistaken. The colony prospered but not from the mines, as Rhodes expected. Instead farming and grazing lands are the magnets which drew the 33,000 white men to this remote area; enough, even with nearly 800,000 natives, to be given the reins of government."

"We live by our Public Utilities"

"We live by our public utilities," said Samuel Vauclain, President of the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

"Our whole commercial and social life is based on their service. When we handicap them, nobody suffers more than we do—all of us—everybody."

Central Maine Power Company has supplied with light and power this summer over 45,000 homes and stores and over 500 industries. To some extent, because of low water on some of its rivers which have inadequate storage facilities, it has turned to its steam reserve stations but ALWAYS it has furnished the necessary power.

That's what counts—CENTRAL MAINE POWER COMPANY FURNISHED THE POWER AND KEPT MAINE INDUSTRIES HUMMING.

When Maine people back Central Maine Power Company with their investment money—when they put it to work in good dividend earning property—they are building for their own commercial and social welfare.

This Company is continually putting Maine money to work. It is now adding 11,400 horsepower to its present supply.

If you, too, are in a position to invest in a tried and true Maine company that has done so much and should continue to do much more for Maine, buy the 7% Preferred Stock of Central Maine Power Company.

The price is $107.50 a share. The yield is 6 1/2% net.
